16. ABSTRACT

This report is the sixth in a series of periodic reports presenting the probable compliance status and related facility information for major stationary sources of air pollution. The contents of this report were generated from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Compliance Data System and are not intended to represent the true legal status of facilities with respect to applicable air pollution regulations but rather those facilities of interest to the States or the Agency for further investigation.

The Stationary Source Enforcement Series of reports is issued by the Office of Enforcement, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, to report enforcement related data of interest. Copies of this report are available free of charge to Federal employees, current contractors and grantees, and non-profit organizations - as supplies permit - from the Air Pollution Technical Information Center, Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27711 or may be obtained, for a nominal cost, from the National Technical Information Service, 5258 Port Royal Road, Springfield, Virginia 22151.

Publication No. EPA 340/1- 78-006

May 1978

Under the Clean Air Amendments of 1970, the States and EPA are charged with the responsibility for ensuring the reduction of the quantity of pollutants in the ambient air to levels adequate to protect public health and welfare. In 1971, EPA identified six pollutants which are deemed harmful to health and welfare in certain concentrations (total suspended particulates, sulfur oxides, nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, photochemical oxidants, and hydrocarbons) and established National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) as levels to be attained and maintained.

Section 110 of the Clean Air Amendments of 1970 required the states to develop State Implementation Plans (SIP's) by 1972 to assure that the Federally-established NAAQS be attained and maintained. In order to achieve the NAAQS, states set specific emission regulations in the SIP's restricting the amount of pollutants which any source may introduce into the atmosphere. These limitations on emissions are designed so that when sources comply, there will be a reduction in the ambient concentrations of those six pollutants to levels at least as low as the national ambient standards, taking into account the increase in emissions which occur as a result of normal industrial growth. Where a State failed to submit an acceptable plan, EPA was required to promulgate one.

Besides the establishment of Federally-approved SIP's by the States, Section 111 of the Clean Air Act requires EPA to publish a list of categories of stationary sources and to establish Federal standards of performance for new or modified sources within those categories. These emission standards, called New Source Performance

Standards (NSPS), reflect the degree of emission limitation achievable through the application of the best system of emission reduction (taking into account the cost of achieving the reduction) which has been adequately demonstrated. Sources subject to new source performance standards are called "NSPS sources."

In addition to the six criteria pollutants listed above, four pollutants (asbestos, beryllium, mercury, and vinyl chloride) have been identified as hazardous pollutants to which no ambient air quality standards are applicable and which may cause, or contribute to, an increase in mortality or an increase in serious irreversible or incapacitating reversible illness. EPA has established the National Emission Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants (NESHAPS) at levels which will protect public health. Facilities which are subject to these provisions (section 112) of the Clean Air Act are called "NESHAP sources."

It is EPA's policy to make information available on the status of compliance of these air pollution sources with the applicable emission standards. The information contained in this report reflects the best nationally available data in EPA at the current time. More specific information may be available from the appropriate State or local agency or EPA regional office.

The information listed in this report was produced by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Compliance Data System (CDS) which is operated and maintained by the Agency's regional offices and the Office of Enforcement in headquarters. The facilities listed do not represent a complete listing of all facilities subject to Federally-approved or promulgated air pollution regulations but do represent a reasonably complete listing of large sources identified to date by the States and EPA. Most of the compliance status information is provided to EPA by state and local pollution control agencies on a quarterly basis and represents probable compliance status. Therefore, due to lag time from a State or EPA source inspection to reporting and encoding and national availability, the data can be from three to six months old. CDS information cannot be used to support any Federal enforcement action but is used to direct the Agency's attention for further investigation in order to obtain documented evidence that violations do exist.

There are three parts to this listing:

Part I - Major air pollution facilities subject to state implementation plan (SIP) requirements.

Part II - Air pollution facilities subject to Federal new source performance standards (NSPS).

Part III Air pollution facilities subject to Federal hazardous pollutant emission requirements (NESHAPS).

The data items shown for each facility are:

1. EPA Region ("REGN" on report), see list below.
2. State abbreviation ("ST" on report), see Appendix A for description.
3. Air Quality Control Region in which the facility resides ("AQCR" on report), see Appendix for description.
4. Name of the county in which the facility resides ("COUNTY NAME" on report).
5. Standard Industrial Classification code (SIC" on report), see Appendix B for description.
6. Name of the actual facility ("SOURCE NAME" on report).

7. Actual location of the facility ("STREET ADDRESS" on report).

8. Closest city to the facility ("CITY NAME" on report).

9. Probable compliance status of the entire facility with all applicable emission standards or compliance schedule("CMST DESCRIPTION" on report). *

Quick Look subtotal and total lines which indicate the number of facilities per state and per region respectively have also been provided.

A few data items may appear as blank or incorrect in the report. This is an indication that information for a particular source may not have been updated recently or that the information was not available at the time of printing (date in upper left corner of each page).

The sequence of the report within each part is by EPA regional office, by State alphabetically within the region, and then alphabetically by source within a SIC.

If there are any questions on the data in this report they should be addressed to the appropriate EPA regional office as listed below:

* In addition, NSPS and NESHAP sources have listed their Air Program Status ("APST"); P is planned, C is under construction, O is operating, D is demolition, R is renovation, and S is spraying.

Another feature of this publication is the series of milestone reports which total the number of major sources in each compliance category for each of the three programs by region. The mutually exclusive compliance categories are encoded as follows: CMST 2,3,4, and 9 indicate compliance with emission limitations; CMST 5 denotes sources meeting compliance schedules; CMST 1 and 6 represent sources violating emission limitations and compliance schedules, respectively; CMST 0 indicates the status with respect to emission limitations is unknown; and CMST 7 shows that the status of a source on a schedule is unknown, while CMST 8 means that there are no applicable regulations.
